Recently, the Association of Contracting Plumber presented a $10,000 grant to the North Brooklyn Community Council. The grant is the first in a series of contributions that will be made by the ACP to mark its 125th Anniversary. Joining the ACP at the ceremony was City Council Member Erik Martin-Dilan, Chair of the Housing and Buildings Committee and a leading supporter of the North Brooklyn Community Council.

The North Brooklyn Community Council was established in 2004 to address the needs of children who are underserved in the Williamsburg, Bedford-Stuyvesant, Bushwick, East New York and Cypress Hills sections of Brooklyn.

“Our goal is to honor community organizations throughout the City that are striving to improve the quality of life in their communities,” said Larry Levine, ACP President and a Principal of Par Plumbing. “The North Brooklyn Community Council has made remarkable strides in improving the quality of life in its neighborhood in a short period of time and it should be proud of its accomplishments. “

Council Member Erik Martin-Dilan thanked the ACP for recognizing the work of the NBCC with a $10,000 grant.
